SPRING OPENING

At A. Jaeger, Jr.'s Hardware
A Big Success.

Those who attended the Spring Opening at Jaeger's Hardware last Saturday were well repaid. Mr. Jaeger had seven factory representatives present, and each was an artist in his particular line. Mr. Teare of Moline, Ill., was here in the interest of the John Deere Plow Co. Mr. Teare demonstrated the New Jay Deere pivot tongue Riding Cultivator, showing the many advantages over other riding cultivators.

Mr. Beales, with the John Deere Plow Co., demonstrated the new No. 9 Edge Drop corn planter showing the accuracy in the drop, also showing the farmer how to raise more corn with a Deere Edge Drop corn planter.

Mr. Cunningham demonstrated the John Deere gang and sulky plows. These plows always make a hit with the farmers.

Mr. Gordon was here in the interest of the International Harvester Co. demonstrating the Steel Clover Leaf manure spreader, showing the farmers why they could not afford to farm without a spreader. Mr. Gordon also took orders for McCormick binders and mowers for future delivery.

Mr. Seouthorn, also with the I. H. Co., demonstrated the Blue Bell Cream Separator, and did so to the satisfaction of all who attended the Opening.

James Christian, general salesman and blockman for the I. H. Co., was at the Opening but had to leave on the 2:00 p. m. train.

Last but not least was the Velie Buggy demonstration given by Mr. Austene. Mr. Austene held the attention of a large crowd for an hour or more. He is a good talker and he certainly showed the crowd that the Velie buggy had the right kind of material under the paint, by giving the buggy the most rigid test that could possibly be made. Everyone thought that something would break every minute, but Mr. Austene proved that the Velie Buggy had the material in it, and was re-inforced at every joint and it was impossible to break under the most severe test. The buggy Mr. Austene demonstrated was a regular buggy taken out of Mr. Jaeger's stock and not a selected job for the occasion.

Mr. Jaeger gave away watch fobs, buggy whips and cigars as souvenirs and certainly had the crowd with him.

Surprised.

The ladies of the Rebekah lodge have been having a series of social meetings, taking their work and spending the afternoon at the home of a member. Tuesday they were to meet with Mesdames Ebey and Rouse. Learning that Monday was Mrs. Ebey's birthday they went a day early and were in the house before Mrs. Ebey knew anything about it. Later in the afternoon she was presented with a lovely chair the gift of the lodge. She will always remember this day with pleasure in the years to come.

What proved to be only a burning flue called out the fire department late Tuesday afternoon. The hose was attached to the fire plug and the boys had to make a little trial. The pressure was enough from the tower to handle small fires. When the power is put on direct there will be plenty of pressure. The water can be put to work much quicker than with the old engine.

It is a privilege to present once more, the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir and its distinguished conductress, Madame Hughes Thomas, L. R. A. N. Coming from Wales, the traditional "land of song," the Choir has long been regarded as the foremost interpreter of Welsh national music and in their successive tours of England, France, Germany, Australia and America, have been welcomed with enthusiasm by all music lovers. Madame Hughes Thomas has selected the best of her pupils for this choir, and has trained them so carefully that the result is a freshness of tone, an unsurpassed clarity of enunciation and perfection of intonation, seldom, if ever before attained by a ladies choir.

Madame Hughes-Thomas, herself, needs no introduction here. The daughter of Reverend Richard Hughes, one of the most noted and eminent Welsh preachers, she married Alderman Edward Thomas, former Mayor of Cardiff, the most important city in Wales. She has long taken a prominent part in the national life of her country, both politically and musically.
